

What Education says about Goal Mapping

It has really inspired me. Something I thought I couldn't do – now I can. I wake myself up without an alarm clock. I believe in myself. I look at my Goal Map and say 'I can do it' – and I can do it better.

It was really good and inspiring. It has helped me with the way I think when I want to do something, I feel more confident about myself."

It made me think more positively and achieve anything I put my mind to."

It gives you a different view on life. Using Goal Mapping has helped me with some personal problems that I had.

Students of Eaglesfield School, Greenwich

This system, which has been applied so successfully to business leaders, has a direct application for raising achievement in our classrooms. The Goal Mapping system is now being applied at transition between Y6 and 7 through a 'learning to learn' transition passport. We are confident that it will help our students to refocus on their learning by visualising their bright future and then mapping their route to that successful dream. It is a technique that will give hope to our youngsters. I thoroughly recommend it to any school.

Dave Sharratt - Director Leigh Park Education Action Zone

All Universities are adapting and evolving in response to the changing higher education landscape. In helping our staff to cope with this challenge we were fortunate to find Goal Mapping. The programme has helped to re-engage and inspire staff who have been through a period of complex change. It is a great way to help people cope with change.

John Hemingway - CIO, Sheffield Hallam University

The Goal Mapping programme was thought provoking, stimulating and most importantly effective. Every child left the day with a clear plan of where they were going and how they were going to get there. I loved the way the children presented back their final Maps.

The results have been dramatic, Year 9 went on to achieve the schools best ever set of SATS results, with performance in all subjects improving.

The programme's now a permanent strand in the school's drive to raise achievement, and I recommend it unreservedly.

When I first came across the Goal Mapping technique I was sceptical. However, looked at my Map every day and a few months later suddenly realised that everything I intended my Map had materialised.

I had just signed the agreement to buy the big, brand new house that I had dreamt off; I had more money in the bank than I had ever had, my salary had almost doubled and my I was really happy with my job. More importantly, my whole life felt balanced.

I attended a Goal Mapping workshop in spring, and have been using my map on a regular basis. I’m finding that the goals and opportunities that I envisioned are being brought to me, and that I have a much more rooted and stronger sense of actually being who I am. I’ve also recently read Sam the Magic Genie to my 8 year old son, who loves it.
